I understand that Environmental Health will review these plans within 20 working days after being processed. Environmental Health will only approve the plans when it has determined that all necessary information is in conformance with applicable laws and regulations. The local Building Department must receive Environmental Health approved plans prior to issuing a building permit for any construction/renovation of a food facility. Construction and/or installation of equipment in the facility shall not begin until Environmental Health has approved the plans and building permits are obtained. Plan review fees are a prepaid estimate of time and are based on the current hourly rate. Plan review and construction inspection fees (including travel time) are separate from the operational permit fee. The following must be completed before opening the food facility for business:

- Obtain final construction inspection approval from Environmental Health and all applicable regulatory agencies.
- Submit the Retail Food Facility Permit application and fees.
- Any additional time beyond the initial paid plan review fees are due prior to submittal of a Retail Food Facility Permit application.
